TAFT WILL KEEP IN THE MIDDLE OF THE ROAD

President Taft Admits Making Numerous Mistakes.

EXPECTS TO MAKE OTHERS

In Speech at Peoria Executive Declares His Political Education Was Sadly Neglected and Ambition
Thwarted—Explains Veto of Tariff Bills on Ground That He Was Pledged to Principle of Protection.
Wrote Heart Into Statehood Veto.

St. Louis, Sept. 23.—The tariff board and its mission will be discussed by President Taft this evening at the banquet to be given in his honor by the members of the City club. The president is the guest of St. Louis today, and tomorrow will continue his westward journey.

In an address in Peoria, Ill. delivered at a luncheon given by the Republican state central committee, the president said:

"I have been the subject of so much comment, I may say of so many counts in so many indictments, that I have classified them, and there is one very large indictment against me that I do not know anything about politics and that I am a very poor politician—and I plead guilty.
But the truth is, gentlemen, that my politics were limited to a very early stage of my career. Three or four years after I came to the bar I was pretty active, so that I knew something of ward politics. Since that time my fate has been such as to try me out of politics onto the bench, or 7,000 miles away from any American politics. There are some politics that the Filipino excels in, and can, to use a colloquial expression, give the Americans cards and spades in and still beat them, and that kind of politics I had something to do with. But, as my dear friend Senator Cullom says, my ambition lay in an entirely different direction and was not gratified.

Mistakes Hard to Avoid.
"Of course I made a great many mistakes. I shall continue during this term to make them. That is hardly to be avoided. But there are certain things, certain rules, that it is rather easy to follow. One is, that when you have made a promise, it is your obligation to keep it. I considered with reference to the Democratic tariff bills that I was as much under an obligation to veto every one of them as if I had said, when I was on the platform running for the presidency, that I would veto

"Eats" to Cost More Food Prices Soaring

As a Result of the Canadian Election Thursday

Food Prices Soar as Result of Canadian Election.

Chicago, Sept. 23.—Foodstuffs which might have been affected by an influx of Canadian products had Laurier and his movement not been defeated in Canada, rose sharply in price in all American supply centers.
Wheat led in the advance, followed by flour, and millers adjusted their quotations to figures more commensurate with the advanced cost of the grain staple.

Oats, too, felt the effect of the Canadian vote, and as a result consumers may expect soon to pay increased prices for breakfast foods.
The initial meal of the day, in fact, seems destined to bear the brunt of higher living costs within the next few months, as it needed only the developments in the trading pits to add force to the recent advances in coffee and sugars.

BANDIT IS KILLED BY MAN HE ROBBED

Chicago Doctor Shoots Foreigner With Own Gun.

Chicago, Sept. 23.—Dr. William H.
Falkner, prominent physician, lured to a deserted and tumble-down building at 6131 Hamilton avenue, shot and killed Emil Dignos, a supposed bandit, formerly a foreign correspondent for a packing company. Although the police found diamonds, a gold watch and money belonging to Dr. Falkner in the dead man's pocket, the robbery theory was attacked by Mrs. H. P. Hogue, at whose home Dignos roomed. She said Dignos was a model young man, not a robber.

Dr. Falkner's story was that Dignos lured him to the building on the pretext that his uncle was dying. The physician said that when he reached the place and was attacked by Dignos, the latter drew a revolver and forced him to turn over his valuables. When Dignos ordered him to leave, he seized the man about the neck. A desperate struggle followed.

"We both fell to the floor," Dr.
Falkner continued, "with Dignos clutching his revolver. I managed to keep his right hand, which held the revolver, pointed toward the ceiling until I succeeded in taking the weapon from him. It was while we were in another clinch on the floor that I discharged the revolver. The bullet entered his brain and killed him."

Mail Robber Confesses

Middletown, O., Sept. 23.—W. H.
M. Marshall, assistant mail carrier, who was missing immediately after the mail which was being sent from Jackson, Ky., to Hazard, Ky., Tuesday night, was robbed of $1,500, was arrested here and confessed.

Shifts The Blame For Defeat To Taft

Clark Says Taft's Haste Helped Kill Reciprocity Measure.

Nashville, Tenn., Sept. 23.—When Champ Clark, speaker of the national house of representatives, arrived to be the guest of the Tennessee state fair, he was asked if his supposed humorous remarks about annexation at a banquet some time ago had not aided in the defeat of the reciprocity proposition by Canada. Mr. Clark wrote the following statement: "My remarks about annexation did not do half as much to defeat reciprocity in Canada as did President Taft's speech in which he insisted on hurrying up agreeing to reciprocity in this country before Great Britain could establish her imperial policy of tariff with preferential rates for the colonies."

Pomerene Expresses His Regret

Canton, O., Sept. 23.—The overwhelming defeat of the reciprocity treaty at the Canadian elections is a disappointment to Senator Pomerene.
He confidently expected it to be ratified. "I am still convinced that the treaty would have been beneficial to both countries and am hopeful that freer trade relations between the two peoples may be secured in the future," said Pomerene. "Free trade between the United States and Canada would be just as logical and as helpful as the free trade now existent between Ohio and Indiana."

House Is Blown To Atoms

Four Killed When Gas Lets Go at Youngstown.

Youngstown, O., Sept. 23.—Four persons were burned to death and a dozen injured when an eight-inch gas main on the South Avenue viaduct burst and poured a stream of the blazing fluid into a boarding house nearby. The building immediately took fire and burned to the ground in a few minutes.

The dead: Pete Zarkowich, Mike Papo, George Berlich and Mike Ber-lich. Mike Bernardo was fatally burned and will die. Pete Metitch and Barbara Bernardo are fatally injured and a number of others less seriously burned.

sylvania Fair.

Troy, O., Sept. 23.—Frank Miller, a Cleveland aviator, was burned to death and dropped to the ground at the Miami county fair. The catastrophe was witnessed by thousands.
Miller had just completed a flight around the fair grounds, about 200 feet from the ground, in his Curtiss biplane. As he made a final swoop towards his landing place, there was a blinding flash and his gasoline tank exploded. A twist of the steering wheel sent the plane up in the air.

Request Of Randall Turned Down

Randall Will Not Be Heard by Administration Board.

Columbus, O., Sept. 23.—Following a conference between Governor Harmon and C. B. Randall, discharged penitentiary steward, at the conclusion of which Randall said that the governor had promised him a "square deal," President Allen W. Thurman of the state board of administration said that his board would not give Randall a hearing even if the governor requested it.

"I say this not out of disrespect to the governor," said Thurman. "But because my interpretation of the powers conferred upon the board is that we must deal directly with the heads of the institutions under our control, hold them responsible for acts of subordinates, and not establish the precedent of giving each disgruntled employe a hearing on their woes."

ALLEN W. THURMAN

President of the Ohio State Board of Administration.

Neapolitans Blame Saint For Disaster.

Naples, Sept. 23.—Twenty persons are known to have been killed in a hurricane and cloudburst which devastated a number of Vesuvian village.

There is six feet of mud in a number of hamlets. Houses were overwhelmed and collapsed at Torre del Greco, Portici and Resina, and hundreds of families are cut off from escape. Vineyards and orchards have been razed and railroad service and telegraphic communication interrupted.

The people of Naples and outlying towns are terrorized, and the superstitious recall the fact that the blood

New York, Sept. 23.—Wall street was in a state of panic and the stock market was overwhelmed by a wild burst of selling, which for a time resulted in demoralization and a swift depreciation in market values. Alarm at the reports of approaching dissolution of the United States Steel corporation resulted in an enormous volume of selling by holders of the corporation's stock in all parts of the country and in Europe. The defeat of reciprocity in the Canadian elections contributed to the unsettlement of the market. Large buying orders placed by J. P. Morgan & Company had the effect of checking the wild stampede.

Deer In America and Camel In England Hitched to Vehicles

Photo of camel copyright by American Press Association, 1911.

REINDEER and a camel broken to harness are shown in the above picture. The photograph of the camel drawing a lawn mower was made in the London zoo. The ungainly beast does the work satisfactorily, and there is the further advantage that it is not necessary to pad his feet as is the case when horses are used on a fine lawn. The other picture shows a pair of reindeer drawing a carriage in which their owner, Frank Clemens, has started from Seattle to New York. Clemens caught the reindeer near Cordova, Alaska, a year ago when they were but a day old. He has made pets of them and has taught them many tricks such as lying down and feigning death. He says he traveled hundreds of miles behind reindeer hitched to sledges in Alaska, and he has no doubt that his team will be able to draw the light carriage across the continent. The animals are known as Buster and Babe. They are handsomely matched, and their owner has refused to set a price on them.

DRIVEN FROM THE CITY LIMITS

WANDERING NOMADS

ON COMPLAINT OF CITIZENS

Roving Band of Gypsies Start to Work

IN THE BUSINESS SECTION

Soon Run Amuck of the Authorities, Who Issued Orders.

Another gang of disreputable looking gypsies landed in this city Saturday morning, and started in search of some "easy" money. From the description given of the band of scoundrels who swindled a Ross county man out of $7 a few days ago, the gang that struck the city Saturday morning was evidently the same one.

Two hags, dressed in gaudy calico started in the business district to tell fortunes, and to beg. Those who were annoyed telephoned to Chief Devaney and he found them in a store in the business district, and told them that they must leave the city without further delay, and if they annoyed another person, they would be arrested.

This had the desired effect, and the pair hunted up the remainder of the ugly bunch and started out of the city. To make sure they left the city, Chief Devaney followed them part of the way.

The two wagons in which the bunch traveled contained from six to ten dirty, ragged children, and two or three lazy rascals who were not good apologues of men.

This is but one of many gangs, or the same gang of nomads which have infested the city frequently during the past two years, and who have tried repeatedly to swindle the citizens and to get into cash drawers everywhere.

It is believed that the next time they strike this city they will be arrested and dealt with in a manner that will keep them from the city forever.

Body of Wm. Davis Recovered Yesterday

The body of William Davis, the young man who was drowned in Darby creek near Darbyville Sunday morning, was found Friday afternoon fully a half mile south of the point where he met his death.

A party of searchers had been looking for the remains all week, thinking they would be found in a deep hole south of where he met his death, but the body had floated down stream and lodged in some drift.

The body, it is said, bore evidence of having been attacked by water rats.

K. of P. Building Walls Completed

The walls of the remodeled Smead building, which will be the Castle Hall of Confidence Lodge, K. of P., have been completed, and the interior work is now in progress.

The structure is a handsome one, and one would hardly recognize the old structure in the imposing building which will probably be ready for occupancy by Thanksgiving.

In addition to an entire new front, the north and east walls have been overhauled, and the interior will be completely changed.

CUSTOMERS

Of The Buckeye State Building and Loan Company, 22 West Gay street, Columbus, Ohio, appreciate their fair treatment and knowing of the safe business principles of the company send their friends there to deposit money and to borrow money. This is greatly appreciated by the officers and directors of the company as it is thus enabled to assist more people in getting homes. Assets $4,900,000. Five per cent. paid on time deposits.

Telephone Merger Under Way

The first movement toward merging Ohio telephones, made for several months, occurred a few days ago when N. C. Kingsbury, of New York, representing the American Telephone and Telegraph Company, presented plans for adoption by the Ohio Public Service Commission.

Three kinds of combinations are contemplated, and only one of these would involve a real merger. Combinations in the smaller cities or towns are being planned first.

In the smaller towns where the Bell has no local switchboard but only toll stations, contracts are to be made with the independent companies giving the Bell the right to connect lines with the independents in return for paying the local companies a percentage of long distance business originating with the local company.

Mt. Sterling is one of the places where this will be done. In cities where the local companies have a stronger footing than the Bell, the Bell will dispose of its local business and enter into contracts for the long distance.

Real mergers are being planned in Coshocton, and other cities of like size. A raise in rates was mentioned by Kingsbury, but the commission is said to have taken exception to the proposed raise. The telephone companies declared that they could submit proof that it was absolutely necessary to raise the rates in order to exist.

The situation in this city remains unchanged, and will probably remain so throughout the winter. However with the approach of spring, developments, which have long been delayed, it is confidently believed, will take place.

New Holland Making Improvements

Among the improvements under way in New Holland at present we note the erection of a nice residence in the Ferrel-Mitchel addition by Wm. Funk; John T. Dick has commenced a new residence in the Evans addition. New cement walks are being laid on East street from Front to School street and the new walks south from the School house to Oak street are in use. New Church of Christ parsonage is nearing completion. The Dunlap residence property on North Main street and the properties of the Farmers' Supply Company are being redecorated. The West Holland Hill is being cut down and leveled. All the above shows that the spirit of progressiveness does not slumber in our village.—New Holland Leader.

Selden Elevator Involved in Suit

A suit has been filed in Common Pleas court for the foreclosure of a mortgage held by W. H. Burnett, of Selden, and issued by M. Jones and Altie Jones, in which the elevator at Selden is the property upon which the lien was taken.

The suit is an outgrowth of a $500 note issued on Sept. 24, 1910, and payable in three months, with N. M. Jones and Altie Jones the signers. In his petition Mr. Burnett alleges that the note remains unpaid, and as he took a mortgage upon the elevator, he asks that the property be sold that he may receive the amount of the note with 7 per cent. interest from September 24, 1910.

This may result in closing the elevator at Selden for some time to come.

FUNERAL OF MRS. W. H. BEERS.

Sad beyond the power of words to tell were the funeral services of Mrs. W. H. Beers, nee Bess Dunton, held at the home of her sister, Mrs. William Burnett at Jasper, Friday afternoon.

There was a very large attendance from around Jasper, the old home of the bride, and from this city, which she left less than a year ago, a happy bride, to make her new home in Lancaster.

The services were simple, conducted by Rev. T. W. Locke, of this city, assisted by Rev. T. W. Ricketts, of Staunton. Both pastors spoke with deep feeling of the bright young life now ended and voiced the sympathy which goes out in large measure to the husband and family.

There were few dry eyes when Mrs. Bruce Marks and Mrs. George Cline sang hymns that had been favorites.

A wealth of beautiful flowers had been sent in farewell tribute, among them an immense basket spray of roses from the Dahl-Millikan Wholesale Grocery Co., of this city, another from the Buffalo Paint and Varnish Co., and a spray of dahlias from the Bailey Drug Co., of Zanesville.

A long line of carriages bore the family and friends to the Washington cemetery for the interment.

The pallbearers were: Mr. Mack Snider, of Columbus; Messrs. Ralph Nisley, Fred Jones, Lee Ortman, Gil Perrill, Marion Slagle.

Among the relatives here from a distance to attend the funeral were Mrs. Beers' parents, Mr. and Mrs. C. D. Dunton, who made their home with their daughter, in Lancaster, the brother, Mr. Clarence Dunton and wife, of Circleville, Mrs. Panoast, Mr. and Mrs. Gallagher, Miss Mary Dunton, Cincinnati, Mr. and Mrs. Mack Snider, Columbus.

Man Carried Chickens Was Frightened Away

One night this week while an East Temple street resident was looking after his horse in a barn along an alley in the rear of his home, and had just stepped from the barn, he was astonished to behold a man standing nearby.

"What are you doing here?" asked the fellow. "I might ask you what are you doing here?" replied the man. "Nothing!" was the answer. Just at this instant another man came sneaking down the alley carrying a number of chickens he had purloined from a neighbor's private chicken house.

Upon beholding the two men, one of whom was his pal, the fellow dropped the chickens and fairly flew up the alley, disappearing in the darkness. His companion took to his heels in the opposite direction and both made their escape.

IMPERIAL DEGREE STAFF

Holds World's Record

THIRD PLACE IN CONTEST

The Returning Members Are Jubilant

ABOUT HONORS CONFERRED

All Report a Big Time and Royal Entertainment at Indianapolis.

The Imperial Degree Staff of Temple Lodge now holds the world's record of third place in the First Degree, being awarded the third prize in the National Degree Contest at the Sovereign Grand Lodge held in Indianapolis, Ind., this week.

There were 17 degree staffs entered from various cities over the United States and the Imperial Degree staff completed, in its first attempt with degree staffs of past records in these contests.

Their score rated 97.85 per cent., only 2 per cent. behind the first prize and less than one-half per cent. below the second prize. In floor work the staff was conceded to be perfect and Degree Manager Chaffin extolled as one of the finest captains ever witnessed in the work. Other characters in the brilliant and dramatic scenes of the First degree were also personally mentioned by the judges for their splendid impersonations.

One of the judges, who has been in the music business for thirty years, could not say enough for Mr. Frank Horstman's masterly music.

Mr. and Mrs. Glen Rogers are the guests of friends in Circleville today.

Mr. George Eller and daughter, Miss Edith, are visiting Mr. Eller's daughter, Mrs. Frank Madora, for the coming week.

Mr. Frank Smith and family are moving to Waverly, Mr. Smith having that territory for the Dahl-Milkan Wholesale Grocery Co.

Night Train Killed Blanchester Man

The B. & O. north-bound passenger train due here at 10:48 p. m., ran over a young restaurant keeper of Blanchester, Friday night, and mangled him so that he died within a very few minutes.

Mr. Lon McCoy of this city, was on the train at the time, and assisted in removing the mangled man from beneath the trucks.

The young man had forgotten a package which he had on the train, and went back to secure it, when the train started, throwing him under the wheels where his agonizing screams drew the conductor's attention, and the train was brought to a halt.

claiming that it was the first real music the lodge had had all week.

Winning high recognition in a contest of such magnitude certainly gives to Temple Lodge of Odd Fellows a national reputation and puts Washington C. H. on the map in lodge work.

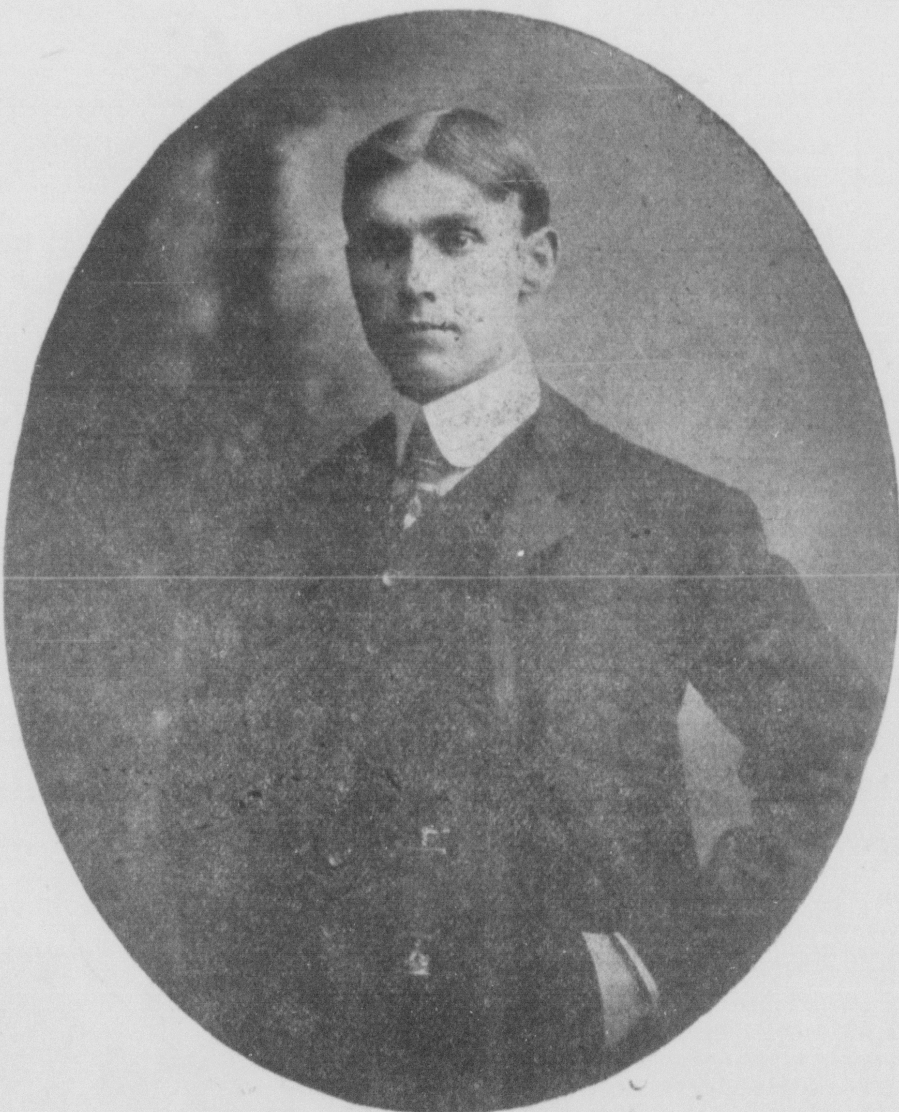

Every citizen of town and county, shares in the pride felt over this achievement in First degree honors, and not only glories in the winning of third money, but also in the high ambition and zeal which incited the members of the Imperial Degree staff to contend for first degree honors and led them on to victory.

A happening of local interest at the Indianapolis Grand lodge meeting was the presentation to Manager Chaffin by the Imperial Degree staff of 45 American Beauty roses on Thursday, in honor of his 45th birthday and in token of his untiring services in lodge work.

Odd Fellows have been returning on last night's and this morning's trains, but Manager Chaffin and part of the Degree staff will not be in until this evening.

A. P. Shalley, real estate broker, of Indianapolis, and having a large business acquaintance here entertained the members of the Imperial Degree staff royally with a dinner and sight-seeing trip over the city in automobiles, furnished at his own expense.

HARVE W. SMITH.

The above is an excellent likeness of Mr. Harve W. Smith, the Court street restaurateur who is well known to almost all of the citizens of Washington.

Mr. Smith has been engaged in business here for a number of years and has made many fast business and personal friends.

The present campaign is his first dash into politics, and so far he has been remarkably successful, having secured the Republican nomination without opposition.

Mr. Smith expresses himself as a heartily in favor of municipal advancement. Along all proper lines, believes the laws relating to public health should be enforced to the letter and that a thoroughly sanitary condition of the city should be brought about and maintained.

the farmers refuse to part with the crop until the price literally tempts them to do so against their will.

Next spring this essential is expected to be, proverbially speaking, "out of sight", and $25 to $28 per ton may not be a high price at that time. It may even reach $30, but this is hardly expected.

Fayette county's hay crop was far below the usual this year, although in some localities it was very good, and a large amount of fine hay was harvested. But the supply will be far below the average, and the consequence is that the price is steadily advancing.

The shortage in the hay crop will, undoubtedly, boost the price of corn and oats, together with straw and roughage, such as corn fodder. Livestockmen look toward the approaching winter with anything but a cheerful manner, well knowing the increased price of grain and hay means higher expenses, and the livery business is exceedingly dull to say the least in the winter time.

Mr. Farmer has the least to worry him about the hay crop shortage. If he has hay, he is sure of a big price and is entitled to it; if he has no hay he will use fodder and other roughage to carry his stock through. Meanwhile there are 98,853,168 horses; 51,370,000 cattle; 2,773,000 asses; 14,932,672 sheep; 62,000 mules; 20,000 goats, and 19,403,000 swine to be carried through the winter.

An automobile race with the machines running backward—this is one of the innovations promised for the fall race meet on October 18 and 19, and the two contestants for the first prize will be Mr. Leo Katz and Mr. Earl McLean, both too widely known to need further introduction to the public.

This race is a result of a "dare" which passed between the two men Saturday morning, and resulted in the one agreeing to a half mile of the sport with machines running backward.

The danger attached to the sport is apparent to all who know how difficult it is to guide a rig backward, but both men are careful drivers and no serious results are expected. This kind of a race is said to have been tried once before at a county fair in Illinois, and resulted in both machines being wrecked and one of the drivers sustaining a broken leg.

HAY FAMINE IS COMING

RECORD PRICE PAID

SHORTAGE IN ALL KINDS

Everything indicates a hay famine before timothy and clover hay grow again. In the local markets the price has reached $20 or even better per ton—a new record, or what is claimed to be the highest price ever paid in this city at this time of the year.

Not only is the price high, but it is going higher. In Chicago for instance it is hovering around $30 per ton, with prospects of it going much higher before the new crop comes on.

Last year the crop was short throughout America. This year it is still shorter, and the result is that those who are forced to buy hay must pay dearly for it.

No trust has the hay market cornered. The entire trouble is blamed on the weather man who forgot to turn the sprinkling can upon the scorched meadows in time to make the crop a bounteous one. Consequently the old law of supply and demand has come to the front, and RECIPROCITY'S FINISH.

The result of the election in Canada on the proposed reciprocity pact between the dominion and this country was to many people, on both sides of the line, a complete surprise.

The result was not a doubtful one, the opponents of the agreement winning out by a large margin.

If this result could have been foreseen, the extra session of Congress need not have been called and a world of debate, time and expense would have been saved.

President Taft, who so earnestly advocated favorable action by the congress of this nation on the agreement received the news of its defeat at the hands of the Canadian people in a manner which denoted genuine disappointment and sorrow, if not chagrin.

The President ably and earnestly advocated the adoption of this measure as a very marked step in the direction of that tariff revision, which the result in the last two elections have been taken to indicate was the desire of the people.

In his advocacy of the measure, President Taft encountered much opposition in the ranks of his own political party, but notwithstanding that fact he stuck determinedly at the task which he had cut out for himself with that persistency which won him many friends, even among his political antagonists.

It is a strange turn of fate that the same element—the forming interests—which, on the surface, opposed most earnestly the agreement in this country, is the one which defeated it at the polls in Canada.

The greater number perhaps, of farmers in "the States" believed that the adoption of the agreement would result in great benefit to the farmers of Canada and consequently great loss to them, and strange to say the Canadian farmers believed that the farmers in this country would be vastly benefitted at their cost by the adoption of the agreement.

Some one was wrong.

If the result in Canada is worth anything as proof, and we of this country believe in the majority rule, then President Taft was right when he contended that the American farmer as well as the consumer would be immensely profited by the agreement.

Reciprocity with Canada is now, for the time being at least a dead letter and all the labor and all the strife which has occupied the attention of the people during the last eight months goes for naught.

The people are now ready for something else to be brought out on exhibition.

CHARITY AND STAMINA.

It has often been observed that living organisms require for their fullest development a certain amount of resistance in their environments. The individual or the species for which things are made too easy loses the unused function. The butterfly helped from its chrysalis has imperfect wings; the man fed on soft foods has bad teeth. The parasite is always a weakling and sometimes a degenerate monster. The parasitic dodder, which draws all its sustenance from the sap of the host, is a plant without a root or a leaf. The hermit crab, which, instead of growing a shell for itself like other crustaceans, makes use of the cast-off shells of mollusks, is atrophied in some of its members and enfeebled in its whole organism. So with the intellectual environment and the mental qualities of man. The Journal of the American Medical Association says that the pauper and the pampered child of wealth are alike deprived of those qualities of initiative and self-reliance on which their respective environments make no demand. Unnecessary charity is twice cursed; it curseth him that gives and him that takes.

Whoever Reaches Back Hardest Into the Past Will Go Forward Farthest Into the Future

By President HADLEY of Yale

HERE are few things so important and few so little understood as the REAL USE OF TRADITIONS. Some people do not revere them at all; others revere them for their own sake and care for NOTHING BESIDES.

The true man reveres them because they help to keep his IDEALS HIGH and hold them erect in life's storms. The strongest tree is the one which drives its roots DEEPEST INTO THE GROUND. The taller the tree grows the harder its roots must take hold on the soil. So it is with the life of a man.

HE THAT DESIRES TO REACH FORWARD FARTHEST INTO THE FUTURE WHICH HE WOULD SERVE MUST ALSO REACH BACK HARDEST INTO THE PAST FROM WHICH HE HAS SPRUNG.

All our great human institutions are attempts to realize this idea and to get men into these relations. A family has its associations and its traditions which make a man STRONGER for having brothers and sisters and infinitely stronger for being one of a line whose good name he is anxious to maintain.

POETRY FOR TODAY

SQUELCHED.

I have studied all the "isms," all the cults and "ologies,"
From the Persian Zoroaster to Confucius, the Chinese.

I've studied some of Buddah, of Mahomet I have read,
And theosophy I've delved in till an ache came in my head.

I have listened to the speakers, and I read the written page;
I have tried to catch the reasons of philosopher and sage;

But all my time seems wasted, for I really must infer
That I won't get started rightly till I follow Mr. Kerr.

By a scientific thesis he's prepared to demonstrate—
If you'll send along the money just to help to pay the freight—

That the soul is non-existent, that at death we reach the end,
That the world's profoundest thinker lives in Kansas, at Great Bend

He's discovered God is nothing, that eternal life is not;
That the things we learned in childhood are a bunch of tommyrot.

And so it seems I'll never in this old world make a stir
Till I swallow the discovery of a scientist named Kerr.

But amidst my search and study there comes stealing over me Simple truths my mother taught me as I stood beside her knee.

And I see her sweet face smiling as she raised her trusting eyes
To behold the stately mansion built for her beyond the skies.

I can see her walking bravely through the Shadow of the Vale
With a trust in Him who led her and whose arm will never fail—

So I guess I'll take my chances, and just follow after her, and then Miller lost control and the flaming gasoline enveloped him. Like a shot out of a cannon the aviator and machine dropped to the ground. Miller was dead, his machine consumed by flames.
And pass up the scientific and profane Mr. Kerr.

Miller was in the employ of Charles J. Robel of Toledo, and had been hired especially to make flights at the fair grounds. He was scheduled to make three flights as an attraction for the last day of the fair.

The accident occurred while Miller was making his last of three flights. He had been in the air probably 10 minutes, and the machine was in perfect condition. The only fact which stood out from the confused rumors and opinions was a definite statement from Attorney General Wickersham that no arrangements for the dissolution of the corporation had been made and that no such action had been proposed to the department of justice. This put an end to the widely-circulated reports that the corporation had proposed a plan of dissolution to the department of justice, with the idea of averting a dissolution suit. It is the general impression that the steel corporation has already mapped out an aggressive program in anticipation of an adverse report from the Stanley investigating committee, and will fight a dissolution order to the last ditch.

PROFIT BY OTHERS' EXPERIENCE

Gray Hair Restored

My hair was getting quite gray and falling out rapidly and I was troubled with a terrible itching of the scalp. My head was full of dandruff, which fell upon my clothes and kept me continually brushing it off. While on a visit to Rochester I heard of your Sage and Sulphur for the hair. I got a bottle and used it. A few applications relieved the itching, my hair stopped falling out and gradually came back to its natural color. It is now a nice dark brown color, soft, glossy and pliable. Several of my friends want to use it, and I want to know what you will charge me for six bottles of it.

Grew Hair on a Bald Head

For two or three years my hair had been falling out and getting quite thin until the top of my head was entirely bald. About four months ago I commenced using Sage and Sulphur. The first bottle seemed to do some good, and I kept using it regularly until now I have used four bottles. The whole top of my head is fairly covered and keeps on coming in thicker. I shall keep on using it a while longer, as I notice a constant improvement.

IN THE SPORTING WORLD

SPORT LETTER

Cincinnati, Sept. 23, 1911.

They're dashing down the home stretch at a furious rate, those National League pennant contenders, with the New Yorks in the lead, the Chicagos some games behind, and the Pittsburghs all but hopelessly distanced in their efforts to get under the wire first. The Giants now are the odds on favorites for the flag, and barring an unusual run for ill luck, will meet the Athletics for the world's championship during October. It's rather a coincidence that the baseball cycle should swing around to bring these teams together again for the world's championship, after they had fought it out once before, back in 1905. The New Yorks won the series that year, but failed to repeat as National League champions the following year, the Athletics also being unable to win the title on their league two seasons in succession. However, Mack's men came back one year earlier than the Giants, copping the flag and the world's series last year. It now remains to be seen whether or not history will repeat itself and the Giants again wallop the Mackmen in the series this fall. Betting favors the Athletics, but this is no criterion of the real strength of the teams. They'll have to fight it out on the field, not in the pocketbooks of some enthusiastic fan.

Followers of the Reds will have the opportunity of seeing the prospective National League champions in a series of games during the next few days, including a Sunday encounter that is expected to draw one of the largest crowds of the season. The Giants have always been great favorites in this city, and nothing would please the Cincinnati fans more than to see the Reds pull them back a bit in their efforts to land the flag. Manager Griffith doesn't feel at all friendly toward Manager McGraw, and the attitude of the Red players toward the New Yorkers also is extremely hostile, so that when the teams take the field for this series, there will be no consideration shown by either side. The game of Sunday, September 24, will probably be one of the Reds' best youngsters in the pitching box, Manager Griffith being inclined to use his returned southpaw, Rube Benton, on that occasion. The only other Sunday game with an eastern team this season will be the Sabbath Day encounter with the Bostons on October 1, when they conclude their visit to the West here.

Great preparations are being made for the annual field day of the Cincinnati club on Sunday, October 8. The St. Louis Cardinals will be the Reds' opponents on that day, and following the regular game, there will be a series of field contests that are certain to add greatly to the attractiveness of the afternoon's sport. There will be eight events on the program, as follows: Fungo hitting, catcher's accurate throwing, circling the bases, long distance throwing, pitcher's control, 100 yard dash, running out bunt to first, one mile relay race, five men to a team. A prize of $25 in gold will be given the winner in each event, the contests being limited to the members of the Cincinnati and St. Louis teams. The "White Man's Hope" seems to be quite as hopeless now as it was at the time that Jack Johnson beat the championship title out of Jim Jeffries. Carl Morris, who was touted as the man who would eventually bring the title back to Caucasasia, made a pitiable showing against Jim Flynn, the Colorado fireman, in New York last week, displaying nothing in the ring but bluff and gameness. When it came to the fighting game he was as green as a newly painted lawn chair, and what Flynn, who is not even a good second rater, did to him was cruel. With Morris shelved as a "White Man's Hope," the followers of Fisticiana will have to consult the clairvoyants for the next man, for he doesn't appear to be anywhere around just at present.

Those three aviators who are trying for the Hearst $50,000 prize for an ocean-to-ocean flight are not burning up the heavens with their transcontinental speed. They seem to be doing more flirting with trees and things than they are conquering miles of space, and if they're not careful they'll be overtaken by snowstorms long before they get through with their efforts to land the big purse. Fowler, who started from San Francisco, is having a hard time getting across the Sierra Madre mountains, while Ward and Rodgers, who are working westward, seem to be fated to stick in New York state for quite a while. However, the mishaps which the boys are experiencing but add zest to the contest, and are good space matter for the newspaper.

Efforts are being made to have another English hope in the pugilistic line put out of the running by matching him to an American. Matt Wells, the English lightweight, has the peculiar idea that he is as good a man as either Ad Wolgast or Packy McFarland, and is desirous of taking on either of these Americans. The National Sporting club, of London, is willing to hang up a purse of $30,000 for such a contest, and the chances are that the necessary arrangements for the match will be made within a few days. Judging by past performances, neither Wolgast nor McFarland should experience much trouble in disposing of the Englishman.

C. H. ZUBER.

Game Tomorrow At Ball Park

The Washington Base Ball team will cross bats tomorrow afternoon at 2:30 with the Springfield Athletics in what promises to be a fast game.

The visitors come reinforced with players from some of the minor leagues, which have closed the season.

The local fans will also get a chance to see the new men in action and every effort will be made to wipe out last Sunday's defeat.

Our boys are upon their metal, in good trim and will either win or make the visitors "go some" to beat them.

A large crowd is expected out to see the contest at 2:30 sharp.

minutes and the plane was seen to be the fair grounds at a 60-mile clip. The aeroplane seemed perfectly responsive to his guidance and Miller was cheered repeatedly by the big crowd.

While at a height of 200 feet Miller prepared to make his final swoop and the explosion occurred. The crowd rushed to the aid of the mar, when the aeroplane dropped to the ground, but no one could get near it owing to the blazing gasoline. Had Miller then been alive he could not have been rescued. Coats and blankets were procured and the flames were extinguished. It was found that Miller was dead. Besides being terribly burned, his head was crushed by the engine of his machine.

Taft Will Keep Middle of Road

...the Republican party had taken the position that it was necessary to maintain the industries of this country by protection sufficient to give them a living method of competing with foreign manufactures.

"So far as the veto of the Arizona bill is concerned, I just vetoed that because I could not do anything else. I wrote my heart into that veto. I do not wish to disparage the views of others who think that it is possible to have a recall of the judiciary and still retain a decent government, because I have lived too long not to know that people may have very radical differences in opinions and still be within the line of sanity, but trained as I have been as a judge, with a judicial experience lasting nearly my entire life, it seemed to me that the principle of judicial recall would sap the foundations of our government so quickly that soon we would have no government. What would happen if we allowed it to prevail?

Definition is indefinite.

"My friends, I have tried to follow what I thought to be right in the administration of the office. There has been a division between the party and I have been charged with not being progressive and therefore to be condemned. Of course progressiveness is like the description of about the size of a piece of chalk. What one does, this man thinks is progressive and another man thinks it retrograde. There are, however, two great schools—one which believes that the present is not perfect, perhaps, but changes from it would be dangerous. They are the strictly conservative and perhaps are known as the reactionary. Then there is another class at the other end which is extreme in its views that the whole present condition is wrong and there must be radical changes if we can live at all. Now, I think perhaps I am wrong about it, but I think I am going along in the middle of the road between those two. At least that is what I am trying to do, and I believe the legislation of this administration has been along that line. We have brought the railroads under a condition of regulation that has satisfied them that the country is bound to have their business discharged according to law and under such supervision as to insure that it will be according to law; and I have heard no complaint that the present regulations do not secure that result."

BAND OF ROVING GYPSIES

SPREAD DIPHTHERIA

IN DISTRICT EAST OF CITY

The Public Drinking Cup is to Blame

CONDITIONS ARE WELL IN HAND

Only One Resident Became Unruly, and He Finally Surrendered.

Dangers of the public drinking cup are brought forcibly to the front by an epidemic of diphtheria among the school children of the Drais school, east of this city on the Circleville pike, where a number of the children have contracted the disease from a tin cup which had been used by a band of gypsies who stopped at the school house and used the children's drinking cup, while one of their number was suffering from the disease.

The nature of the disease was ascertained Wednesday, and the Union township trustees took immediate steps to prevent further spread of the epidemic, by closing the school, disinfecting the building, and having all of the pupils who were exposed to the disease, inoculated with diphtheria anti-toxin, which is expected to stamp out the epidemic in a hurry.

At present there are five children suffering from this dreaded disease, but in no instance are the cases said to be serious. The children have been ill and the disease is said to be little worse than a severe sore throat. All of the children took the disease about the same time, and while at school.

Of the children who are sick, four are colored, and one white. Three of the Harve Kelly children, one child of Chas. Bellar and one of William Scott are suffering from the malady.

In all about thirty youngsters have received the anti-toxin treatment to immune them from the disease. This was administered under orders of the trustees, who are to be commended for their prompt action. All houses where the disease exists are kept under strict quarantine, and if any member of the family ignores the quarantine arrest and the payment of a fine, or workhouse sentence will result.

At the residence of Henry Landrum, who lives nearly two miles east of this city (where all of the cases are located) the physician who was employed to administer the anti-toxin was met with the information that the children could not be touched, and under no circumstances would the father allow the treatment given. All efforts to reason with him failed; and the trustees ordered the physician to place the Landrum home under quarantine. This was done against the protest of of Landrum, who said he would disregard the quarantine, and was told that if he did he would be placed under arrest and fined or sent to the work house.

The man would not allow the anti-toxin administered, so the quarantine was established and the trustees and physician left. The next day Landrum who was working for a man near his home, asked for some money, and was informed that he could not give it to him, nor could he work for him longer until the quarantine was removed. This threw the man and family without means of support, and the township would be compelled to give them attention. Thus made to understand that the quarantine was not a joke, the fellow gave in and allowed the anti-toxin to be administered to the children.

No further spread of the epidemic is anticipated, and it is believed that it is under control and within a short time will be over.

Most parents are buying collapsible drinking cups for their children, thus eliminating the necessity of the children using a cup which is exposed for public use, and which causes just such epidemics as the one at the little country school east of this city, where a band of roving vagabonds spread the disease.

Land owners, who are fully empowered to keep the roving rascals from camping along the road adjoining their property, may also prevent such an epidemic by ordering the nomads onward and seeing to it that they go.

Editors Freed of Contempt.

Columbus, O., Sept. 23.—Charles J. Pretzman, attorney for the Burns detectives during the legislative graft exposure; Negley D. Cochran, editor of the Toledo News-Bee, and Ermond E. Cook, editor of the Columbus Citizen, were held to have committed no indictable offense against the state when they refused to testify before the Hudson senate investigating committee last May, by the Franklin county grand jury.

Man and Wife Die Together.

Yellow Springs, O., Sept. 23.—William Murray, 46, and his wife, Jane Murray, 43, were found dead in their home from alcoholic poisoning. They had been dead for at least four days. The authorities believe the couple committed suicide. Another theory was that the husband died last Friday night from alcoholism and the wife, crazed with grief, ended her life by drinking wood alcohol.

THE CONTEST WILL CLOSE

IN MEMORIAL HALL

SATURDAY, SEPT. 30 AT 8 P.M.

Only One More Week Until the Close

OF THE STANDARD POPULARITY VOTING CONTEST

Committee of Prominent Citizens Will Count the Vote

Intense interest on the part of the general public and a wonderful activity on the part of the candidates makes the closing days of the great struggle for prizes offered by the Register-Herald in their Great Voting Contest. The outcome of the spirited battle is being awaited in eager expectancy by nearly every one in the city and vicinity for all have their favorites in the list of contestants and are hoping and trusting their favorite will be among the successful ones who carry away the splendid prizes at the close.

One week before the close of the great battle the final outcome is as much in doubt as when the contest was in its earlier stages. The struggle in each district is remarkably close, and it will take the final count of the ballots to definitely determine the question of the winners.

ABOUT THE FINISH.

"Of course you will have a bulletin board to record the standing of the leaders on the last night, so that low ones can put up cash to cover what the others have put in," was the remark of a person who was not familiar with the management of contests conducted on a large scale.

Of course we will do nothing of the kind.

During the last day of the contest the ballot box will not be opened until 8:00 p. m., when it will be turned over to the committee of disinterested persons who will be chosen to judge the finish of the race. All ballots put into the ballot box will be cast at the knowledge of the candidate alone and there will be no chance for any candidate to know what has been cast by any other, much less cover it with a cash purchase of votes. Furthermore, all votes issued in this contest are for bona fide subscriptions and a thousand dollars would not buy ten votes unless it represented that much money in subscriptions.

This method of closing the contest gives every candidate an equal chance to win a prize. This week's special offer will afford an excellent opportunity for the hustling candidates to secure a big bunch of votes to hold in reserve for the final count. Remember, this is the week when the candidates double their efforts. You will have to do likewise if you want to be a winner.

As stated above, the contest will close in Memorial Hall, Saturday evening, September 30th at 8 o'clock. At 7 o'clock the ballot box will be taken from the Register-Herald office to Memorial Hall where subscriptions will be received and votes issued until the closing hour. It must be distinctly understood, however, both by candidates and their friends that the votes for subscriptions must be issued and PLACED IN BALLOT BOX before 8 p. m., otherwise they will not be counted.

This rule will be strictly enforced.

South Charleston Inn Will Open Next Week

From Thursday, September 21 and ending with the close of the contest, Saturday, September 30, at 8 p. m. extra votes will be allowed as follows:

For $15.00 in subscriptions, 7000 extra votes will be given.
For $30.00 in subscriptions, 20,000 extra votes will be given.
For $50.00 in subscriptions, 40,000 extra votes will be given.
For $75.00 in subscriptions, 75,000 extra votes will be given.
For $100.00 in subscriptions, 120,000 extra votes will be given.
For $150.00 in subscriptions, 200,000 extra votes will be given.
For $200.00 in subscriptions, 300,000 extra votes will be given.

This offer is for NEW or OLD subscriptions or BOTH and is the last opportunity to gather a bunch of votes.

HOW TO GET VOTES.

Your votes in the contest will come mainly from subscriptions to the Register and Herald. Votes are allowed on both new subscriptions and on renewals to the Register and Herald. Votes will be allowed according to the following table:

The South Charleston Sentinel says:

"The opening of the Houston Inn will take place upon the time appointed, Saturday, September 30. The carpenters and glaziers sparing no effort to accomplish this end, and the painters and decorators are working right on their heels.

"In order to correct an erroneous impression which seems to be in the minds of the Charleston people, Mr. Houston wants to state that on the day of the opening there will be ample accommodation for all who attend, both from the town and out. Preparations are now going forward to provide for the entertainment of 300 guests, and if it is found necessary, more elaborate preparations will be made.

"Residents of the village will be as welcome on the opening day as any stranger, and will be as well cared for. So there will be no occasion for any one to stay at home through fear of lack of accommodation. Mr. and Mrs. Geiselman are expected here next week to complete the final work of caring for the opening rush. A large crowd is expected, and in charge of experienced people such as Mr. and Mrs. Geiselman, no trouble is anticipated. There has been more than 250 tickets sold, with ten days still to work in, and other fields to cover and places to hear from. But Mr. Houston wants the residents of the town to feel that they are just as welcome at the opening as any one."

trict No. 1, the upright piano must be awarded to the opposite district or vice versa. In this way one of the grand prizes will be won in Washington and one outside of Washington. After the grand prizes have been awarded, the names of the winners will be stricken from the list and the 1st prize. The same plan will be used holders of the first places will then be given the prizes known as District 1 in awarding the District 2d prizes.

Remember, three prizes will be given to each district, and each and every candidate will receive a square deal. One district will not have the advantage over another. District No. 1 will receive a grand prize and two district prizes. District No. 2 will also receive a grand prize and two district prizes.

Address all communications to the Contest Manager, Register-Herald, Washington C. H., Ohio. See the Contest Manager for instructions and all details of the contest.

OUTLINES FARM COURSE

School Commissioner Prepares to Teach Agriculture in Schools.
Columbus, O., Sept. 11. — A tentative course of study in the subject of agriculture for the elementary public schools of Ohio has been prepared by State School Commissioner Frank W. Miller, who is state superintendent of agricultural education, and his four supervisors of agriculture, J. R. Clarke of Columbus, L. S. Ivins of Lebanon, H. L. Goll of Swanton and S. A. Harbour of Andover.
In the primary grade the instruction is to relate to trees, plants, animals, birds, nest building, landscape, fruits, seeds, etc.
In the first division pupils should be taught to study domestic animals, plants, trees and bird life more extensively than in the preceding division; seed distribution, grains, shelter for animals, bird migration, care of chickens and farm animals, experiment in growing catkins in water, sand or loam; protection of buds, cause of rain, frost, hail, snow and ice; altitude of sun at noon, and at different months; preparation of soil care and use of garden tools.
In the next division there is an amplification of the work of the preceding division, together with instruction relating to minerals, the preparation and maintenance of lawns, study of simple tools and machines, origin of soils, elimination of household pests, study of water supplies, lighting systems, transplanting tree practice, good roads, marketing of agricultural products and formation of agricultural clubs.

FORCED TO LEAVE HOME.
Every year a large number of poor sufferers, whose lungs are sore and racked with coughs, are urged to go to another climate. But this is costly and not always sure. There's a better way. Let Dr. King's New Discovery cure you at home. "It cured me of lung trouble," writes W. R. Nelson, of Calamine, Ark., "when all else failed and I gained 47 pounds in weight. Its surely the king of all cough and lung cures." Thousands owe their lives and health to it. It's positively guaranteed for Coughs, Colds, LaGrippe, Asthma, Croup—all Throat and Lung troubles, 50c. and $1.00. Trial bottle free at Blackmer & Tanquary.
Bandit Confesses When Caught.
Laurel, Md., Sept. 9. —A lone bandit made an unsuccessful attempt to hold up five employees of the Citizen's National Bank here and after an interchange of shots escaped, leaving a revolver, his mask and a bag as the only clues to his identity. After three hours' search a volunteer posse found the bandit. He confessed to the attempted hold-up and said he was Henry Jackson, 17, of Yuma, Ariz.

The Manicure Lady

"YOU'LL HAVE TO show up around here more frequently," said the Head Barber, "if you want to keep your position in this shop."

"Huh!" exclaimed the Manicure Lady, with a world of contempt in her voice. "I don't have to work any more if I don't want to. My rich uncle died and left me the bank roll he made up in Nova Scotia selling goods to them blue-blooded blue-noses. It wasn't the kind of a roll that John Rockefeller isn't going to leave to his niece, but it was $10,000, and since I see you last, George, I have been over to Europe."

"Brother Wilfred was heart-broken when he heard about my uncle's death and the sad way in which he made out his will, so I staked the poor boy to 1,000 beans so he can get out two of his sets of poems. He says that the publisher told him he could make a lot of money if he got his poems out in book form, but it must be one of them money publishers, because he wanted brother to kick in with $500 before the book came out. There's some shine publisher over in Boston that does that kind of business, because a young poet that used to think the world needed more blank verse went to that man and got the same kind of a deal Wilfred is going to get. The publisher took the kid's money, got out the books, and forgot to sell any of them. This is a fierce world, George. If they hand it to poets that way, what chance has us girls got?"

He Was Tired.

"What's all that got to do with the trip to Europe?" asked the Head Barber, who had long ago become tired of hearing about Wilfred.

"Nothing much," said the Manicure Lady. "If you ain't interested in my brother's poetry you ain't got anything on me and the old gent. Father was saying the other day that he could have found two better ways to use a thousand dollars than the way I used it on Wilfred, but that didn't appeal to me none, George, as I imagine the two better ways the old gent had reference to was rye and bourbon. I slipped mother a good bunch of yellow bills, and if the old gent can dig one or two of them out of her with a jimmy he is welcome to them. But not from daughter! I'll never forget the time I loaned him ten dollars and he came home with a couple of Eagles or Elks or something, and offered to sleep in the barn so they could have his room. Goodness knows, George, he might go to awful lengths on a big bankroll if he did a thing like that on a ten-dollar loan. A Wonderful Place."

"Well, getting back to Europe, it is sure a wonderful country and a historical place, George. I seen some things over there that I will remember to my dying days. I was to Paris, and I seen the mandolin they used to cut off the head of Mary Queen of Anjou, and the prison where Du Barry was locked up while she waited for the electric chair. The guide told us all about it. He said the reason the queen was sent to the mandolin was because she replied to the peasants that had come to ask for bread; 'If you can't get bread, why don't you eat pretzels?'"

"I'd like to see some of them places myself," said the envious Head Barber. "The most of my travelling was done around here, like on the New York, New Haven and Hartford. I was on the New York Central once."

"There ain't much travelling about that," said the Manicure Lady, dusting off her work table and getting ready for a victim. "That kind of travel don't broaden you out none. You got to go to other countries, George, to get educated. I just wish you could see what I have saw."

Never before had his beautifully hosed calves traveled so fast. They flashed like fireworks among the Alps, and their vivid hues out-bud all the mountain flowers which they passed.

The pursuing bear was also making good progress. He did not wear hose himself, but he wore a hopeful smirk, and his tongue licked his lips as he sped after the flying man.

Suddenly a voice above them cried out, "Hey!" It came from a tourist who was pointing his camera down at them from a safe height.

The sound of a human voice seemed to give the pursued one fresh hope. He made a spurt, and drew ahead.

"Hey! Hold on there, old chap, can't you?" yelled the camera fiend. "You're too far ahead. I can't get you both in!"

Païd for the Supper

Three men had been out on a spree, and on the way home at night they made a compact that the one who did not do as his wife told him should pay for a champagne supper the following night.

The first one returned home, and his wife greeted him thus:

"Hallo! That's right, knock all the ornaments off the mantelpiece!"

And he knocked them all off.

The second returned, and on going into his house fell against the piano; whereupon his wife said:

"Go on! Get the chopper and smash it up!"

He did so.

The third returned, and on going upstairs his wife said:

"You miserable scamp! Now fall downstairs and break your neck!"

"Not on your life; I'll pay for the supper."

SURE THING.

"Do you believe in reciprocity?"

"Well, I don't know that I'm sure just what it means. Something connected with a kiss, isn't it?"

The elevation of their brother to the pontificate entitled these devoted kinswomen to be called countesses. "No, they are the pope's sisters; that is enough," declared Pius X. And so the three women remained in comparative obscurity, but close to him they loved so dearly.

Pope Pius, according to Vatican decree, never could dine with them, but the sisters always placed a chair for their absent brother and had said that they knew he was with them in spirit. The pope's mother did not live to see him in that high office, but he had received the red hat when she passed away.

$600 Schaff Bro. Player Piano

First Grand Prize

$600 Schaff Bros. Player Piano

This beautiful Player Piano will be given to the person having the largest number of votes in the Register-Herald's Great Voting Contest, and was bought of J. A. Smalley, who has the instrument on exhibition at his storeroom on West Court street, next door to the T. C. DeWees Photo Gallery. A cordial invitation is extended to all to call and examine this beautiful prize.

This player piano carries with it an unlimited warranty and is the most simply constructed player on the market, one lever acting for the tempo, start, stop and rewind, making it possible for a child to operate it and play any style of music, from ragtime to the most classical.

The tone of this instrument, its volume of sound and artistic workmanship have earned for it the distinction of being one of the finest player pianos ever brought into Fayette county. Call at Smalley's store on West Court street and examine this prize.

2nd Grand Prize

$265 Link & Son Piano

This piano, also made by the Schaff Bros. of Chicago, Ill., and Huntington, Ind., has no equal on the market for the price. The people making this piano have been located in Chicago since the year 1868, since which time their financial rating has been unsurpassed by any of their competitors. They were the first firm to make upright pianos in Chicago after the great fire of 1871, and a steady improvement has marked the quality of their product ever since.

This piano was purchased from J. A. Smalley and is on exhibition at the storeroom next to the DeWees photograph gallery. The many excellent features of this instrument, combining a double veneered maple-lined mahogany case, light, perfectly balanced and sympathetic action and soft mellow tone make it one that anyone who is a lover of music would be proud to own.

DISTRICT FIRST PRIZE

$200 Bed Room Suite

In Circassian Walnut, consisting of one standard sized Dresser, one Chiffonier with five large drawers, and one Bed with the new style roll top head and foot boards.

This suite would adorn a palace. It is a prize that will stand the test of time. It will ever be a thing of beauty, fit to hand down to children and grandchildren as an heirloom of Twentieth Century art.

This prize can be seen at the store of The Fayette County Hardware Co., where it was purchased. This firm's well known reputation for square dealing is a sufficient guarantee that this beautiful prize is all that is claimed for it.

DISTRICT SECOND PRIZE

$40 HAVILAND CHINA DINNER SET

This eighty-piece genuine Haviland China Dinner Set, which was purchased of S. S. Cockerill & Son, will be awarded as the District Second Prize.

Haviland & Co., the makers of this beautiful ware, and S. S. Cockerill & Son, the local dealers, guarantee each piece in this set to be absolutely perfect in every way. Each piece bears two stamps. The green one shows that the body of the article was made by Haviland & Co., while the red stamp is a guarantee that the decorations are also a work of this wonderful factory. When examining these dishes please note that they bear both the green and red stamps.

This ware is beautifully decorated in gold, and each piece has been kept free from water so that the monogram of the owner may be put on if desired. The set consists of the following articles: 12 Dinner Plates, 12 Pie Plates, 12 B. and B. Plates, 12 Teas and Sauces, 12 Fruit Sauces, 1 meat Platter, 1 Footed Salad Dish, 1 Baker, 1 Sauce Boat, 1 Covered Sugar and 1 Creamer.

DISTRICT FIRST PRIZE

$125 Diamond Ring

This ring was purchased at the store of C. A. Gossard & Co., who guarantee it to be a pure and flawless stone. If C. A. Gossard & Co. added not one word of assurance, this beautiful little gem would speak for itself.

The perfect color, correct cut and proportion give it the scintillating brilliancy that comes only in the perfect stone. It is a gem no better than which adorns the hand of royalty—it is a prize that any young lady may well strive for.

To the energetic woman who wins it, this beautiful gem will be as a legacy in the bank. Its value is eternal and can never grow less. The person who wins this prize is not required to take the ring which we have selected, but CAN HAVE THE CHOICE OF ALL $125 DIAMONDS in the store of C. A. Gossard & Co.

DISTRICT SECOND PRIZE

$75.00 Diamond Ring

This stone, purchased of W. H. Hettesheimer, Jeweler, is not quite as large as the diamond offered as the District First Prize, but it is a good sized gem, perfect in color and absolutely flawless. It has a Tiffany setting, and will make a splendid prize for some worthy young lady.

W. H. Hettesheimer guarantees this ring to be exactly as is here advertised, and the person who wins it can have the CHOICE OF $75 DIAMONDS IN HETTESHEIMER'S store.

Young ladies, here is a chance to secure that coveted diamond. Perhaps you may never have the opportunity of getting another. Some person is going to be the proud possessor of this valuable prize. Why not you? It will not cost you a cent.
